

Prof. Jerry G. Fong

Curriculum Vitae

Email: jf8888@gmail.com

Prof. Fong obtained his LL. B & LL.M. degrees from National Taiwan University, College of Law. He received his LL.M degree from University of Pennsylvania Law School in 1987 and J.D. degree from Cornell Law School in 1990. After graduate from Cornell Law School, Prof. Fong practiced corporate law in a Philadelphia law firm, Stradley, Ronen, Stevens & Young, before he became a partner at a local law firm in Taiwan.

Currently, Prof. Fong is serving as Emeritus Professor at National ChengChi University. Before retirement, he served as the jointly-appointed professor at College of Business and College of Law at NCCU and in charge of Biopharmaceutical Section of NCCU's EMBA program. In addition academic work, Prof. Fong serves in various governmental agency committees, such as Legal Affairs Committee of the Ministry of Economic Affairs (MOEA).

Because of his diverse experience, Prof. Fong is also a prolific writer. He has authored more than a dozen books and over 200 academic articles, plus over 300 non-academic newspaper and magazine articles. Prof. Fong specializes in areas such as corporate law, securities regulation, intellectual property law, intellectual property management and licensing law. Presently, Prof. Fong teaches at NCCU's College of Law, College of Business, EMBA and DBA (Doctoral of Business Administration) program.